From the desk of Bill Pelham:

The Provost has invited CAC to have a joint meeting with the DAC on January 16th from 11-2 (lunch served--on the Provost) to hear a presentation from Academic Analytics on their data tools that can help the university and departments use data to compare their performance with other universities/departments and identify areas of strength and areas that could be improved. The company will describe their product, and the Provost would like feedback from Chairs and Deans on whether the services they provide would be sufficiently useful that the University should purchase a contract. It should be an interesting presentation and a chance for feedback to the Provost before the university makes a major purchase. We look forward to seeing you all at the lunch.
