I-129 Questionnaire

Background
The U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) now requires the FIU visa signatory for foreign nationals to perform a “deemed export attestation” and under certain circumstances obtain a “deemed export” license. The information on this form must be accurately collected from the faculty sponsor and is part of FIU’s due diligence for deemed export controls. It will be used to submit responses to USCIS and assist with evaluating if a “deemed export” license is required. The government may grant or deny license based on the types of technology involved. FIU has a compliance program in place to address export control issues.

ITAR Controls
ITAR covers any item (equipment, instruments, materials, software, and/or technical data) specifically designed, developed or modified for military, defense or space applications) and may include such items whether procured from a vendor, or otherwise received by a research sponsor or collaborating research institution. For a list of the high level ITAR categories that identify such defense, military and space items see http://pmddtc.state.gov/licensing/dt_references-or1.html. For purposes of this certification, “access” means any visual or physical access to the item, regardless of whether such access is actually required by the visa applicant to perform his/her work assignment. Note: any such item that has been self-invented and is the precise subject of previously published research by FIU may be exempt from this access restriction, pending confirmation by the Export Control Administrator. (Please contact 305-348-4726 if there are any questions about whether access meets the self-invention standard).

Controlled Technologies
Controlled technologies and any related technical data associated in any capacity with the following broad categories may require deemed export licensing. The technologies listed are not all inclusive. Helpful additional information concerning these categories is available on the Office of University Compliance & Integrity web which you may access for your reference at: Export Administration Regulations (EAR) and International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR) https://compliance.fiu.edu/export_regulations.html.
